

C#

- API Class to request a json response from the web service using a uri

- Model class to act like an object

- Aspx html page as front-end to display values

- Helper class to format the data and place it in the aspx html page

JavaScript

- HTML page to display the front-end values from the web service
- JS code below to call the web service api, receive the json data and finally parse it into the html page

